

O! MERRY ROW THE BONNIE BARK,

A BALLAD.

Founded on an Ancient Northumbrian Melody.

Sung by

MISS STEPHENS.

The Words chiefly written & the Music partly composed and most respectfully dedicated to

Her Grace the Duchess of Northumberland.

by

JOHN PARRY.

Ent. Str. Hall.

Price 1/6

London, Printed by Goulding & D'Almeida, 20, Soho Square, to be had of all Music Sellers in the United Kingdom.

ALLEGRETTO.

VOICE.

HARP or PIANO FORTE

8va. loco.

p

f

Ritard:

(THIRD EDITION.)

p
O! merry row, O! merry row the bonnie bonnie Bark, Bring back my Love to calm my woe, Be fore the night grows dark.

Staccato.
My Donald wears a bonnet blue, a bonnet blue a bonnet blue, A snow - white rose up - on it too, A Highland Lad is he! Then

O! merry row the Bark.

SW 00

merry row, O! merry row, the bonnie bonnie Bark O!

8va

merry row, O! merry merry row and bring him safe to me.

8va

f

2^d VERSE.

As on the peb-bly beach I stray'd, Where rocks and shoals pre-vail, I

p

thus o'er-heard a Low-land maid, Her ab-sent love be-vail. A

O! merry row the Bark.

Agitated.

Storm a-rose the waves ran high, the waves ran high, the waves ran high, And dark and mur-ky was the sky, The wind did loud-ly roar, But merry rowd O! merry rowd the bonnie bonnie bark, O!

Energetic.

merry rowd the bonnie bonnie Bark and brought her Love on shore!

O! merry row the Bark.

PRINTED BY GOWLING & SONS, 54, LONDON.